Ten Commandments Granite and Marble eye catching masterpiece wins Craftsmanship Award

→ Winners of the CQ Annual Craftsmanship Award, Ten Commandment Granite and Marble were excited to be given the opportunity to put their artistic side to the test when creating this stunning entry and hallway for Scott Kilpatrick.

"I sometimes purchase random slabs of stone that catch my eye when travelling overseas," said Ten Commandments Granite and Marble owner, Robyn Booth. "When a certain client comes into the showroom and sees the creative potential in that stone, we can work together to create something truly individual and spectacular."

Scott Kilpatrick did see the potential in this one of a kind stone slab and Ten Commandments craftsmen were able to take Scott's vision and create a masterpiece that impressed both the homeowner and the judges at this year's CQ Master Builder Awards.

"The wall piece in this project is cut from two pieces of the same block of orange onyx, bookmarked together and then polished. The lighting set in behind really brings the whole piece to life, it almost appears to be moving," said Robyn.

Cashmere gold granite in the entry and hallway is further complimented by the intricate labradorit blue and gold macaubus granite centerpiece that has been laser jet cut.

"This was a big project," said Robyn. "Each piece of stone is incredibly heavy and had to be precisely positioned without breakage."

This end result is a work of art that has given this home a truly unique and memorable feature that sets it apart from the rest.
